YOUR HOME AWAY FROM HOME

COMPLETE GUIDE TO ON-CAMPUS LIVING

MORE THAN A Room

Living on Campus puts you close to the people, places, experiences and opportunities that make Georgia Southern feel like home.
Live Here. Soar Beyond.

First-Year Live-On Requirement

All first-year students and transfer students with fewer than 30 credit hours are required to live in on-campus housing. Swainsboro students are not required to live on campus.

Students may request an exemption if they:

- Are 21 or older before the first day of the semester
- Are legally married or a single parent (documentation required)
- Have one year or more of active-duty military service or are currently serving
- Have more than 30 accepted credit hours
- Live with a parent or legal guardian within a 50-mile driving distance to your primary campus

START YOUR Journey

Once accepted to Georgia Southern, students may apply for housing at GeorgiaSouthern.edu/housing/apply. Housing is assigned on a first-come, first-served basis, with priority given to first-year students and Armstrong students who have fewer than 30 credit hours.

Roommate Matching

Statesboro, Armstrong and Swainsboro students

Complete the roommate matching questionnaire in your housing application. You may also request a specific roommate. While every effort is made to honor roommate requests, they are not guaranteed, and requests submitted after the priority deadline are less likely to be accommodated.

OPERATION Move-in

Operation Move-In is the official start to the fall semester at Georgia Southern University's Statesboro, Swainsboro and Savannah campuses.

Volunteers assist in getting our students back into the residence halls by meeting, greeting families, answering questions, monitoring elevator traffic, unloading cars and many other activities. It's a collaborative effort for faculty, staff, student and community volunteers.

SOAR WITH Support

Experience the Benefits of Living on Campus

- High-speed wireless internet service
- Maintenance and repair service
- Unlimited usage of washing machines and dryers
- Fully furnished units

Housing Accommodations

University Housing partners with the Student Accessibility Resource Center (SARC) to provide reasonable housing accommodations for students with documented disabilities.

- Submit accommodation requests through GeorgiaSouthern.edu/SARC
- Requests received after June 1 are accommodated based on availability
- Service animals and approved emotional support animals are permitted in accordance with the ADA and Fair Housing Act
- Emotional support animals require approval from both SARC and University Housing

Insurance

University Housing does not insure personal belongings. Students are encouraged to verify coverage through a parent/guardian's policy or purchase renter's insurance.

Consider a policy that includes both personal property coverage, including items lost or damaged outside the room, and liability coverage for accidental damage to University facilities. Students may also elect coverage through GradGuard during the Housing application process.

BEYOND THE Experience

University Housing offers students the opportunity to shape their living experiences by participating in one of our Residential Learning Communities (RLCs). RLCs are a unique way for students to live with others who may have similar majors, who are involved in the same campus programs, or who share an interest or identity.

Kennedy Hall

Armstrong Savannah Campus
Windward Commons

Participation and course enrollment may be required. Students who live in an RLC are more likely to have higher GPAs and a stronger sense of belonging to the university.

Note: Roommates should also meet the qualifications of the RLC.

The RLC experience at Georgia Southern

Residential students who choose an RLC tend to:

- Connect faster with peers, faculty and campus resources
- Find greater academic success
- Enjoy exclusive events and community-specific resources
- Get ahead through community-connected courses (FLYT 1001 & CORE 1002)
- Connect with upperclassmen, graduate students, alumni, community members and corporate partners
